MICHIGAN BACK

The Conference Problem As Viewed From Other Angles

It was evident that there would be nothing doing, and the Michigan representatives remained away. They displayed some, and if the conference is going to cling to its impractical idea of enforcing impossible rules, Michigan will do well to remain away.

The students of Minnesota and the people of the state at large are disgusted with the conference and sore over the fact that Minnesota seems to lack the spirit that prompted Michigan to cut away.

Michigan Viewpoint.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—Civil wars of varying scopes and intensities are threatening in the "big nine" college because the faculty representatives have allowed another annual meeting to pass without inviting Michigan back into the conference. The students and alumni are angry that the Wolverine question was not brought to a head.

The professors explained after their gathering of Saturday that it was not their place to ask Michigan to return, but the students declare that the case should have been reopened, and that the Ann Arbor authorities would have responded with alacrity. If the "grads" have their way a special meeting will be called during the winter to take up the case and see it through to a finish.

The college papers that boomed Michigan's return in Chicago last week will wage a pre-Michigan campaign this week and the faculty members will be greeted almost daily with editorials on the subject.

The statement of the professors that the lack of faculty control at Ann Arbor put Michigan's return out of the bounds of possibility was a large motive for students to swallow.

Alumni Will Act.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—Dissatisfied with the failure of the western inter-collegiate conference to inaugurate plans for the return of the University of Michigan to the fold, alumni of several western universities, it was learned today, are planning to effect a reconciliation between the Wolverines and the Nine universities.

It is hoped to hold a meeting probably in Chicago within a few weeks to discuss the Michigan problem.

Satisfaction with the new rules recommended by the conference professors at their meetings on Friday and Saturday at the Auditorium hotel, is felt by the University of Chicago faculty members. The Maroons do not regret the failure of the boom for Michigan's return and assert that the Nine was never in better condition as a whole than at present.

A Minnesota View.

The Minneapolis Journal says:

"The Big Nine conference adjourned without a reference to the return of Michigan to the western field, and just to show that the spirit of theoretical monkey-shines was to be no means dead, the luminous highbrows representing the mixed company of schools now enrolled in that formal kangaroo court passed a rule forbidding coaches or athletic managers from inviting likely looking lowbrows into the schools for participation in athletics."

Michigan had evidently realized the futility of attempting to reason with this kind of athletic populists. The

Wolgast Has No Cause to Regret His Ring Experience

San Francisco, Dec. 4.—Ad. Wolgast has been deprived of his lightweight crown, but he has enough earthly ways to act as somewhat of a balm. Manager Tom Jones has made the statement that during the period of close to three years that Wolgast was the lightweight champion of the world he made $240,000. Half of his fortune was made up in purse and the rest was accumulated in both theatrical engagements and outside investments.

The beauty about it, too, is that Jones, "the best the German has been able to keep the major part of it," venture to say, that he is worth close to $200,000 today. He has property in Los Angeles valued at $161,000, and he has his ranch in Michigan. His money has been wisely invested and Wolgast has never handled more than $300 in his life.

Wolgast will be one champion who will go the ways of his predecessors. He is far from through with the boxing game, and when he does retire he can settle down and be comfortably fixed for the rest of his life.

Contrary to the general opinion that prevails, the lightweight limit will not be changed. Willie Ritchie, the new world's champion, and therefore the dictator in deciding what weight in his decision, has made the statement that it would remain at 132 pounds. Champion Ritchie even went so far as to intimate that it would be at the downside.

Young Joey Smith, champion lightweight of Ireland and Scotland, will sail for New York soon in the hope of securing matches with some of our top-hands.

KILBANE BEATS MONTE ATTELL

Johnny Kilbane and Monte Attell.

Eddie Stanton, the California boxer, claims to be the only boxer who ever knocked out Louie, the French champion, who is now in this country.

TO LOSE GERMANY SCHULZ.

Wisconsin Line Coach Resigns His Position.

Germany Schulz, the only western player to be twice honored with a place on Walter Camp's mythical All-American football team, has forsaken the game that made him famous.

Schulz has sent in his resignation as line coach of the Wisconsin university team and has made the announcement that he would enter the motor car business with his brother in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Schulz coached the Wisconsin line during 1911 and 1912 and has worked with marked success.

Authorities at the western university give the big fellow much of the credit for Wisconsin's winning the championship of the west, and in all probability considerable pressure will be brought to bear on Schulz in order to have him renew his devotion.

At Michigan Schulz was a tower of strength and without question he was one of the greatest, if not the greatest centers in the history of the game.

JOHNNY KILBANE IS HELD.

Charged With Fraud as Regards Recent Prize Fight.

Johnstown, Pa., Dec. 4.—Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, his manager, Jimmy Dunn and Tom McGinty of Cleveland are charged with fraud in an action brought here on Monday before Ald. Breman by five Johnstown men who claim to have put $700 for a fight between Kilbane and Tommy McGinty in Johnstown on Oct. 28.

Attorney Daniel L. Parsons filed the suit. He said that Toner of Pennsylvania will be called to testify against Hon. James of Gov. Harmon of Ohio, Mr. Dunn, Kilbane and McGinty can be brought here.

McGinty, formerly Kilbane's partner, came here a week before the fight with Kilbane and was advertised on Tommy Duncan, a Pacific center featherweight. He was knocked out in the fourth round.

GREAT RIDERS COMPETE.

Experts From All Parts of Globe Entered in Grasling Race.

New York, Dec. 4.—What is expected to be the most hotly contested grasing competition together with competition in the Indian competition has begun in Madison Square Garden Friday and Saturday nights.

Among the riders who will start in the one-mile professional event are Upton Kramer, the world's champion; Antonio Pineda, the best rider in France; Alf Grendel, of Australia; Walter Rutt, the German champion; Jackie Clark, winner of the steeple chase last year; and Jimmie Wells, the national title holder of New Zealand. A purse of $1,000 will be awarded the winner of the race.

JONES MENTIONED NOW.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—Felder Jones, former manager of the most American baseball team, is to be the manager of the Cincinnati National League team according to President Murphy of the Chicago Nationals. Murphy returned from the east today and according to his story, Frank L. Jones, now the property of Cincinnati, is to go to the American team in a deal which would send Jones to the National.

BROWN VERY UNCERTAIN.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—Three-times Brown, former star twirler of the Cubs, is anxious to find out where he is with reference to next year, and has decided to appeal to the national commission to find out his standing. Owner Murphy turned him over to Louisville, but Brown refused to go there, claiming he was released outright.

Roger Bresnahan claims that he demands of his friends that he demonstrate his nimble ability. Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, tonight decisively defeated Monte Attell of San Francisco, brother of the former featherweight champion. In their twelve round bout here last night, Attell was receiving such punishment that in the eighth round the police demanded that the fight be stopped and the referee gave Kilbane the decision after one minute of fighting in the eighth.

Shortstop Marty Krug and first baseman Bradley have been given the pink slip by the champion Red Sox. Krug goes to the Indianapolis team and Bradley to the Jersey City Sheeblers.
